

Pacific Union “All God’s People,” July 31, 2020 S4:E30

In this week’s episode:

Sharing Masks to Prevent Spread of COVID—

We love the stories we’ve been sharing with you for the past 20 weeks - the ones about young people, like Charlotte Oh, who sews masks for medical professionals in her hometown, and stories like the one we shared last week about a large organization—Adventist Health Bakersfield—donating 500 masks for a homeless shelter. Members, local churches, hospitals, schools - everyone is pulling together to make sure masks are available to those who need them.

Couple Delivers Filipino Food to Elderly Sabbath School Members—

Pacific Union “All God’s People,” July 31, 2020 S4:E30

The level of food insecurity in our country, particularly now, is off the charts. People are hungry, and church members are stepping in to fill the gap. When we heard about Buddyboy Endok and his wife Dalia from the Central Valley church, it warmed our hearts. He told us that he and his wife were very concerned about the elderly members of their Sabbath School class when stay-at-home orders took effect. So he began cooking – Filipino noodles, and other food – and delivering it to them. Their “meals on wheels” ministry has grown, with help from other members, and they’re now making 20 deliveries twice a week, which takes 6 hours to complete. “The looks on their faces are priceless,” he said. Thank you, Buddyboy, Dalia, and your helpers from Central Valley church!
<https://centralvalley.adventistfaith.org/>

Orangewood Academy Teacher Named Among Esteemed Educators for 2020 by Mathspace—
Almost 350 teachers from across North America were recently named by Mathspace as Esteemed Educators for 2020. Mathspace recognizes educators for their vision and drive to innovate mathematics education. Included on the list is Herman Eugenio, junior high teacher at Orangewood Academy. “Thank you again for going above and beyond in all that you do for your students,” shared the school on social media. The Esteemed Educator program started in 2018, and according to Mathspace, this year’s winning teachers have shown exceptional determination and innovation in the face of adversity. Congratulations, Mr. Eugenio! Keep up the great work!

Home

La Sierra University Selects New Provost—

La Sierra University recently announced the selection of one of its key leaders to fill the post of provost, a position previously held by current university president Joy Fehr. Dr. April Summitt, who has served as La Sierra’s College of Arts and Sciences dean since 2016, assumed the role of provost effective July 1. “I am excited about Dr. Summitt’s demonstrated commitment to La Sierra University and its mission to seek truth; to know God, ourselves, and the world; and to serve others,” Dr. Fehr said. Continued blessings to the leadership team at La Sierra University. Read the entire article via the link below.

<https://lasierra.edu/article/la-sierra-university-selects-college-dean-as-next-provost/>

News from Hawaii—

Although the Islands missed a landfall from Hurricane Douglas, the storm was close enough to bring strong surf, heavy rains, and gusty winds to the islands. NASA’s Terra satellite imagery showed the storm’s track as it moved just north of the islands this past weekend. Learn more via the link below. Let’s remember in our prayers all of our students, teachers, and staff in Hawaii as they are the first to open their schools next Monday, August 3, in compliance with state requirements.

Pacific Union “All God’s People,” July 31, 2020 S4:E30

Read more about Hurricane Douglas: <https://phys.org/news/2020-07-nasa-hurricane-douglas-hawaii.html>

~ ~ ~

“But in humility consider others as more important than yourselves.” (Philippians 2:3, CSB)