

Miramonte Christian School Students Participate in MLK National Day of Service

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. once said, “Life’s most persistent and urgent question is: ‘What are you doing for others?’”

Recently, Miramonte Christian School (MCS) honored his legacy by observing the Martin Luther King Jr. National Day of Service. Service is defined as “act(s) of helpful activity; help; aid.” As an activist for civil rights, MLK spoke about strengthening the community by alleviating poverty, ending racism, and creating a mutual understanding and love between people. He taught that strength comes from a community working together as a whole, giving back to all to strengthen communities and break down barriers.

Miramonte Christian School Students Participate in MLK National Day of Service

During their day of service, some of the MCS students participated in thanking the Mountain View Police Department officers with the MCS theme for this year “Unity in C♥mmUNITY”.

To learn more about Miramonte Christian School, click here. Learn more about Adventist Education in the Pacific Union by clicking here.

Photo credit: Miramonte Christian School