

Hawaii Adventist Education | Gayle Asatani

Schools across the Hawaii Conference returned to in person learning to start the 2020-2021 school year on Aug. 3. After finishing the previous school year in virtual learning, teachers and staff were happy and excited to see students return to campus. All campuses across the Hawaii Conference have established health guidelines that are in accordance with the CDC (Center for Disease Control) and the Hawaii State Department of Health, to make sure students are kept safe at all times. Though planning for a school year with a lot of uncertainty has been challenging for some teachers and administrators, God has continued to lead. One example is Mrs. Gayle Asatani from Hawaiian Mission Academy Ka Lama Iki. Though she experienced stress during the initial preparation for the school year, seeing her students again both removed the stress and reminded her of her calling—to be there for her students!
