

Living God's Love

A weekly blog on the intersection of faith and practice

SUBMISSION GUIDELINES

Living God's Love is a weekly blog published by the Pacific Union Conference on its website and available by subscription to a growing number of readers all over the world. It provides thought-provoking and faith-building examinations of Bible stories, passages, and characters, as well as personal narratives that offer reflective accounts of living in Christian discipleship. Blog posts fall loosely into one of three categories built right into the title. Living blogs focus on the everyday stories of people trying to navigate a life of faith. God blogs examine aspects of God's character and reveal new insights about who He is. Love blogs celebrate the ways in which both God and humans demonstrate love through their actions and interactions. Submissions are welcomed from writers living or working within the territory of the Pacific Union and should be prepared according to the following guidelines:

- 750–900 words
- Focuses on a single text, story, event, or theme that relates to Christian faith
- Contains reflection, proposes questions, and prompts discussion
- Is appropriate for a wide audience of those interested in faith development
- Does not aim to promote any particular program, department, or organization
- Provides a clear and focused message for the reader
- Uses stories and anecdotes to capture the reader's attention
- Uses simple and powerful language, active verbs, dynamic imagery

Please include a brief biography with your submission, including your name, occupation, home church, and place of residence.

Send submissions to Becky De Oliveira: becky@31grantly.com

Submissions may be edited for length, flow, clarity, and style.
